

Saathi — your work companion on WhatsApp

For: Heena · How to reach it: it messages you from the same Acharya WhatsApp number. Just reply.

What Saathi is

Not a boss and not a form. It's a companion that knows your work: your calling list, which institute is at what stage, what Rohan did yesterday, and what you're learning. Think of it as a colleague who never forgets anything and is awake whenever you are.

You never have to maintain a sheet. You tell it what happened; it keeps the record. That record is shared with Rohan, so he sees your bookings without you writing a report.

It messages you twice a day — just reply naturally

When	What it does
9:30 AM	Greets you, tells you which institutes to call next and which script to use , helps you pick today's one big win
8:30 PM	Asks how the day actually went, captures each outcome, sets tomorrow's one thing

Sundays off. You can message it any time in between — it's not limited to those two moments.

The 6 things to use it for

1 • "Aaj kisko call karun?" It reads your list and gives you the next ones — with phone, area, segment, and which of the 5 scripts to use for that owner. You never have to decide where to start.

2 • Tell it what happened after a call — in your own words

"Alliant Academy se baat hui, owner ne bola papers khud banate hain, 2 ghante lagte hain. Kal 5 baje demo fix hai."

That one message updates the shared ledger. Rohan sees the booking. You write nothing else.

3 • "Is owner ko kya bolun?" — before or after a hard call Ask it. It'll give you the line, the objection handling, or how to reopen a call that went badly.

4 • Learn the product — ~20 minutes a day It teaches you Acharya properly: what it does, what it does NOT do, why it beats a DIY app, and how to explain the weak-topic report over the phone without a screen. It won't let you "pass" until you can explain it back in your own words — that's deliberate, and it's what makes you confident on call number forty.

- 5 • "Main kaisa kar rahi hoon?" It tells you honestly — what's going well and the specific things to work on. Ask any time.
- 6 • Ask it anything, any time Product doubt, an owner's objection, a subject you're unsure we cover, how the trial works. If it doesn't know, it says so and checks with Deepak. It will never make up a product fact — and neither should you.

What makes it work well

- Tell it the truth, including the bad days. A "nobody picked up today" is useful information, not a failure. It will never scold you — and an honest record is what makes its advice good.
- Tell it the same day. A call you remember on Friday is a call Rohan couldn't act on Tuesday.
- Say things normally. Hinglish, English, short messages. It's a chat, not a form.
- Correct it when it's wrong. If it says an institute is at visit 2 and you know it's visit 3, say so — it will believe you and fix the record.

The one thing it can't do

It cannot make the call for you. It plans, teaches, remembers and reminds. The dialling is yours.

Quick reference

You say	It does
"Aaj kisko call karun?"	Next institutes + the right script
"X se baat hui, [what happened]"	Updates the shared ledger
"Demo fix ho gaya kal 5 baje"	Records it so Rohan sees it
"Ye owner bol raha hai humein zaroorat nahi"	Gives you the response
"Aaj kuch sikha do"	20-minute product/skill lesson
"Main kaisa kar rahi hoon?"	Honest progress + what to focus on
"Acharya SSC cover karta hai?"	Straight product answer — no bluffing
